	Analysing and compiling statistics on website traffic and the use of our website.

Data sources

Personal data is primarily obtained from the data subject. Personal data may also be collected and updated for the purposes described in this Privacy Notice from publicly available sources and on the basis of information obtained from public authorities or other third parties, within the limits of applicable law.

Transfers, disclosures and recipients of personal data

Personal data may be transferred outside the EU or EEA where necessary, in accordance with applicable legislation. Where the European Commission has not made an adequacy decision appropriate safeguards such as the European Commission’s standard contractual clauses will be applied.

We may use third party processors, such as our newsletter and website service providers, and ensure that the agreements and safeguards required by data protection legislation are in place with them.

Your newsletter order or contact request will be forwarded to the cluster to which you have subscribed.

General description of technical and organisational safeguards

Personal data is stored securely and protected by appropriate technical and physical safeguards, including firewalls and access controls. Access is limited to designated employees, and all persons processing personal data are subject to confidentiality obligations.

Retention period of personal data

Personal data is processed for as long as necessary to fulfil the aforementioned processing purposes. As a general rule, data is retained for a maximum of 12 months and newsletters etc. emails sent to you as long as you request them (unless the email becomes invalid and then removed from the mailing lists). After this, the data subject's personal data will either be anonymised or deleted, unless there is another applicable legal basis for processing.

Data subject's rights

Right	In which situations
Request access to the personal data concerning him/herself	Always
Request the correction of incorrect or outdated information	Always
Request the deletion of data	Where the customer has withdrawn consent or where one of the other conditions set out in Article 17 of the GDPR is met
Withdraw consent	Where processing is based on consent
Object to the processing of data	Where the processing is based on legitimate interests and involves a particular personal situation or where the data are processed for direct marketing purposes
Request restriction of processing (e.g. until requests for data are resolved and settled)	If the accuracy of the data is contested or one of the other conditions set out in Article 18 of the GDPR is met
Transfer data to a system held by another party	If the processing is based on consent or a contract, the processing is carried out automatically and the transfer is technically feasible and if the data concerns information provided by the customer him/herself
File a complaint about the processing of your personal data with the Data Protection Ombudsman	Always

The above requests, denials and cancellations may be submitted in writing to the contact person indicated above, with the data subject's name and contact details. We may request identity verification to ensure data protection, and will respond to requests concerning data subjects' rights within one month.

Changes to this Privacy Notice

We may update this Privacy Notice from time to time to reflect changes in our processing activities, legal requirements or for other operational reasons. Data subjects are encouraged to review it periodically. The date of the most recent revision will be indicated at the beginning of this document.
